Rankings are from the Forbes 400 top U.S. Billionaires, 2025. You must be worth 8.3 billion to make the cut. That is $8,300,000,000. There are over 1,135 billionaires in the U.S.	These are not just politically active rightwing billionaires, they have almost all bent a knee to Trump. All of them are powerful in the Digital Tech world and support Israel uncritically. Many of them share an open disdain for democracy, a commitment to programs such as space colonization and immortality, and a core belief that accelerating technological change fueled by AI is the only way to save the world from earlier waves of technology…It is just a weird twist of fate that this will maximize their own power and profits.	Some of these men have long supported Trump, others have only recently submitted to him. All are part of the Epstein class but only some of them were close collaborators or aspired to be (Elon!). They are indicated with (ℰ). If friendly, or linked through projects and/or close associates (ℯ).	If you have faith that super intelligent AI is inevitable, you are a Boomer or a Doomer. Boomers believe this is a very good thing so constraining its birth is a crime against the future they envision. None of these billionaires are Doomers, the opposite. And none of these men are Denialists, those that deny super intelligence is inevitable, let alone in the next few years. None are Users either, pragmatic working people, like the Luddites of old, who want to foster the technologies that will make our lives better, not the very few richer. We think the future of AI, and of us, is not yet written.	The Pure Capitalism American Libertarians dream of is impossible. If states did not exist, capitalists would invent them to control their customers, competitors and suppliers. We have a system of neo-Capitalism hidden behind the Zombie Economic claims of capitalism's apologists. We know GNP is a horrible measure of prosperity, the stock market is a Ponzi scheme, concentrated wealth doesn't trickle down—it congeals and grows. But these claims and others do not die… They live on in many places, including the mouths of these billionaires.	Many on both the extreme right and the extreme left advocate accelerating society so as to break through to the next level. For Leftists, this involves "heightening the contradictions" of the current system to provoke collapse and social revolution empowering the masses, or at least the Revolutionary Elite. For the right, it is almost the same, but the revolution always empowers elites… for the good of the Volk, of course. Today's Tech Lords aspire to become Centaurs, cyborged with intelligent and super intelligent AI's, and rule the rest of us.	One of the clearly uncapitalist parts of the US economy is the military-industrial complex which Pres. Eisenhower warned us about. The vast military economy with its cost-plus contracts and revolving door leadership is a direct subsidy to the corporations deemed crucial for sustaining the US Empire. These include major holdings of every one of these Tech Lords.	Only ten of these Tech Lords have been openly disdainful of democracy in clear words and/or deeds. The other billionaires at least profess to honor democratic ideals… until not. Since all but one of the men listed here have submitted to Trump, it is clear their commitment to democracy is not very sincere.	A political and financial supporter of Israel who did not oppose the genocide in Gaza or the ongoing ethnic cleansing there and in the rest of Palestine. The symbols mark the open supporters of Revisionist Zionism which proclaims Israel's G-d given right to rule from the River to the Sea. Maybe further. Divine justifications excuse any War Crimes or Crimes Against Humanity. Christians, even Hindus, can be Zionists.	These Tech Lords have openly rejected Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (DEI) personally and in the policies of the companies they control.	The Fear of Death may be a greater motivation for these Tech Lords than even their Lust for Domination. All of the indicated men have funded longevity/ immortality research and subscribe to various regimes of pills, fresh young blood, exercise, and other interventions. I predict they all will die. If they embraced the sad sweet truth that we are all mortal they would enjoy life more and probably fuck us all over less. Valar Marghulis Memento Mori	Humanity moving out into space is integral to the fantasies of many Tech Lords. For several, it is their main goal and they have the space ship companies to prove it! Effective Altruism, with its self-justifying greed, depends on humanity expanding into Space for their Longtermist calculations to work. So one can excuse almost any evil today, if the math says so.	On an emotional as well as practical level, the Tech Lords do not care for working people. They may profess to love humanity, but clearly they can't stand people. So they oppose unions, want to replace lesser humans with automation, and dream of living in cities they own and rule. For some, these have become concrete projects to take over parts of countries (El Salvador, for example) or create floating cities so they can recreate a feudal political-economy.	Deeply influenced by one or more open fantasies: (LotR—Lord of the Rings; AR—Aryan Rand novels The Fountainhead and/ or Atlas Shrugged; D—Dune; H—Heinlein novels Stranger in a Strange Land, Starship Troopers, and/or The Moon is a Harsh Mistress; LoL—Lord of Light; SC—Snowcrash; RP1—Ready Player One; EG—Ender's Game; IA — Issac Asimov novels, Foundation or I Robot. They all blindly believe in Libertarian, neoclassical, and other flavors of economic theory that valorize the sacred hunger of their greed.	The main companies founded or owned by the Tech Lord. Many also have Venture Capital (VC) histories, connections, or even own VC companies.
